

By the King.

A Proclamation, inhibiting the resort of His Maiesties people to the Court for Cure of the Kings Euill, and to restraine the accesse of others from infected places.

Hereas His MAIESTIE by His Proclamation published about November last, did inhibite his louing Subjects, That none of them should resort to his Maiesties, or places to his Court adioining, for cure of the infirmity called The Kings Euill, vntill the middle of Lent then following, and now past, which signification of his Maiesties pleasure was made, vpon aduertisement receiued from diuers parts of this Realme, of the disperling of the Infection of the Plague in sundry places thereof. And sithence the middle of Lent last, his Maiesty hath at sundry times admitted of such of his Subjects, as repaired vnto him for Cure of that infirmity, to haue accesse to his Person. Yet being giuen to vnderstand, that the said infection doth again spread it selfe, his Maiestie doth straitly inhibite all his louing Subjects, that none of them resort to his Maiestie, or places of his Court adioyning for Cure of the said infirmittie, vntill Christmas next:
Charging all his Officers and Ministers whom it shall concerne, That they make stay of as many as they shall find travelling, or preparing themselves to his Maiestie for Cure of that infirmitie, and to turne them, as also all other persons whom they shall finde to come from places Infected to the places of their residence, not suffering them to approach to his Maiesties presence, or his Court, or the Court or Household of his dearest Consort the Queene, or of his Sonne the Prince, as they will auoyd his Maiesties displeasure, and the paines of his Lawes ordained against contemners of his Command.

Giuen at the Court at Greenwich the twentieth day of Iune, in the eighth yeere of the Reigne of our most gracious Soueraigne Lord, King CHARLES, of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, defender of the Faith, &c.

God saue the King.

Imprinted at London by ROBERT BARKER, Printer to the Kings most Excellent MAIESTIE: And by the Assignes of JOHN BILL. M.DC. XXXII.
